

Seeking data collection support for a study at the ¡Presente! exhibit at the National Museum of American History

Audience Focus, a Maryland-based visitor research group, is seeking part-time data collectors for an evaluation study at the ¡Presente! exhibit at the National Museum of American History.

The part-time data collectors would conduct face-to-face interviews and distribute surveys to visitors to the exhibition, observe and interview visitors to the Learning Lounge, and enter all responses into our database. Audience focus staff will train and be available to answer any questions and support data collection management throughout the data collection period.

Data collection will occur between October 2023 and August 2024 at the ¡Presente! exhibit at the National Museum of American History. A 1-hour online training will be scheduled a week before the data collector starts and a 1-hour in-person training session with Audience Focus staff will be conducted the day that the data collector starts. We can discuss schedules and timing with those who are interested and see how much time they are able to commit. Spanish language skills are a plus.

Compensation: compensation is $30/hour.

Contact: If interested, please contact Christina Talbert, christina@audiencefocus.com about setting up a time to speak more about the project.
